THE 30-CENT CONCEPTION OF HONEST EFFORT

Our morning contemporary speaks of a campaign, which is being conducted without money and without trickery, as 30 cents.

No doubt those schooled in machine politics and accustomed to "putting one over" view with disdain an honest effort to avoid double dealing, scheming and evasion of the letter of the law, but we do not.

We believe in the people. Whenever they are given a free opportunity to choose between honesty of purpose and duplicity, they are on the side of honesty; and that which looks like 30 cents to the machine politician, becomes a priceless asset.

STATES CAN ORGANIZE NATIONAL GUARD

With the national guard absorbed by the federal service, the states are left without armed forces to quell disorders.

Can the states organize a new national guard? To this question the answer has been given:

"Each state may organize its new guard exactly as though it never had previously raised one. The law provides a national guard of 800 men for each senator and representative may be recruited. When the old national guard units were taken into the federal service they ceased to be national guardsmen. The whole national guard force was wiped out clean, but there remained the authorization of 800 men for each member of congress. Any man who enlists, however, of draft age and subsequently called, will have to respond. In fact, the new national guard would be subject to draft bodily, as was the old guard. There is no expectation that such a course would be followed, however, as the policy of maintaining our army by the selective draft is expected to be adhered to."

GO TO THE POLLS NEXT TUESDAY

With the new law in force, it becomes the duty of all qualified voters to go to the polls on primary day, next Tuesday. Failure to do so might be interpreted as a weakness of the reform measure which is giving us cleaner politics.

Good citizens must show their approval of the purifying effects of the corrupt practices act by going to the polls without the aid of the old party conveyance.

"GARABED" IS IN ECLIPSE

Nothing has been heard from Garabed T. K. Giragossian since congress passed the joint resolution for a government investigation of his free energy motor.

President Wilson did not sign the resolution, which is significant. The President may have been advised by experts that the invention was without merit.

An eastern writer, writing on Garabed, says:

"There is nothing mystic in the appearance of Giragossian. Dressed in a well-worn serge suit, he would impress the casual observer as a skilled machinist or locomotive engineer. He is 57 years old. He has lived in Amer-

RED CROSS DEMONSTRATOR EXPLAINS WINTER NEEDS OF U. S. SOLDIER BOYS

How Ogden women can help in bringing material comfort to the boys at the front fighting and in cantonments this winter was explained vividly by Mrs. H. B. Johnson of Denver, a demonstrator for the Red Cross, this morning at the Maids and Matrons club. The meeting was open to club women of all clubs of Ogden. Other meetings had been held with specific clubs, but this session was for the benefit of all.

Sweaters, wristlets, mufflers, scarfs, and anything else which the boy at the front can use to advantage against a cold spell were among the things exhibited by Mrs. Johnson as samples for Ogden women to pattern. A good attendance greeted the Red Cross worker. Through her efforts the women of Ogden this winter will be formed into a big general sewing and knitting circle and it is thought that a stupendous amount of work will thus be accomplished. In war time everyone should be busy, she said, and those who are not working to produce food should lend their aid in other lines. Every member of the family should knit clothing for the soldiers when they can find time as this method is the most effective in helping the government clothe its troops.

Yarn for the articles will be furnished by the government free of charge to the knitters and they will be expected to convert it into warm "comfies" for the boys. Two hundred pounds of yarn will be received this week by the local Red Cross chapter and a thousand pounds more is expected next week. Utah has been requested to furnish 2800 pieces of knitted work by December 1 and a great call has been issued to the women of the state to lend their aid.

Soldiers' Christmas Boxes. The local Red Cross chapter will start work first on the preparation of Christmas boxes for the soldiers. It is requested that anyone make a Christmas box who will, the cost not to exceed $1.50 per box. The plan is to take a handkerchief of 27 inches dimensions, lay a writing tab and materials on it, pile on more articles such as sweetmeats, dainties and anything appropriate for the Christmas season and bind them all into a neat bundle with the handkerchief and paper. Games, cards, cigarettes or any little article of cheer and comfort will be appropriate of these boxes. Some soldier boy will have no parents or friends to send him personally a box and if he gets one of these it will make a real Christmas for him, so the ladies of the chapter are desirous of getting enough boxes to go all around. The boxes will be sent to the boys at the front and also in the various cantonments.

Hospital Supply Department. Another department which the Ogden women will work on, as explained by Mrs. Johnson, is the making of hospital and surgical supplies. Big night dresses, caps, socks are desired. Bandages and other surgical supplies are also necessary for this service.

Mrs. Johnson lectured yesterday at the high school, the sub-high schools, Sacred Heart and Weber academies, the Tabernacle, Industrial school, the school for the deaf and blind and at the girls' home at the Industrial school. After the meeting this morning she met the ladies of the Eastern Star at 3 p. m. and has a meeting scheduled for 8 p. m. this evening in the Woodmen hall with both circles of the Women of Woodcraft.

This work is among the very important things that the women of the nation can do to help win the war. Mrs. Johnson says, and the president is desirous that all women interest themselves in it so that good results may be obtained.

ica twenty-six years. He does not ask the government to pay for the test of his invention, but will assume it himself. On the nature of his discovery Giragossian reminds one of the late H. H. Rogers, inventor of the formula, "by advice of counsel I refuse to answer." But he will talk by the hour of the physical and social effects of the invention when applied. It is limitless in amount and could be applied to altering the speed of the earth's rotation or changing the inclination of the earth on its axis, thus changing the climates of continents and making bananas grow in Greenland, or oranges in Labrador."

Our own opinion is that "Garabed" is a dream.

A REAL IMPROVEMENT FOR OGDEN

Once more the organ that spouts dust and sets up a screen of smoke is wheezing—

"The Standard is opposed to improvements."

The Standard is not against improvements and never has been, but The Standard does oppose, resist and fight against public abuses.

How does the organ of mist and fog stand in regard to a municipal lighting plant, which would not only be an improvement but a tax-reducing city acquirement?

It is all very well to boast of having driven the little home owner to spend his hard-earned dollars for the good of the entire community, but why not, now and then, move in the other direction, and exact from the powerful a certain amount of public sacrifice?

To obtain a distributing system by which the streets and homes of Ogden could be lighted, and the city treasury enriched, or the people allowed directly to benefit by a big reduction in their light bills, would be an improvement far beyond anything attempted in Ogden since the water works was absorbed by the city.

Frank Francis, who is a candidate for mayor, is committed to this policy, and he challenges the opposition to explain why some such move has not been made during the great hurrah over the lashing of property owners in different parts of the city.

Mr. Francis claims that the limit of revenue raising by direct taxation, without inflicting great hardships on the average home owner, has been reached and some method must be devised by which to escape a confiscating tax in property generally, and he advocates a municipal electric light distributing system.

This system would not require a power plant. The Utah Power & Light company, as a common carrier, would be compelled to sell electric power at approximately the very low rate given to the Southern Pacific shops and the American Can company in this city, and from that power, the city of Ogden, through a distributing system, could obtain a revenue of large proportions, whereby to keep down and even reduce taxes.

If this is not done, how is Ogden to escape a constantly increasing tax rate?

Ogden, in self preservation, is justified in doing what the government does. Ogden can stretch a wire expression—commandeer the electric lighting service because it is generally recognized that public utilities in which class is the waterworks as well as electric lighting—must yield to public necessity.

Over in Colorado, in the city of Longmont, a situation very similar to that which exists in Ogden, arose and the people decided to have a publicly owned lighting system. The big power company which held a monopoly sought to fight off the citizens by resorting to the courts, maintaining that powers granted the city did not allow of municipal ownership and Longmont had not the required bonding power to meet the necessary outlay.

The business men and citizens generally came forward with a loan to cover the initial expenditures and to fight the obstructionists in the court. The action was decided in favor of Longmont, the plant was built and sometime ago the editor received a report of the "electrical department of the city of Longmont," showing a most profitable undertaking, after four years of operation.

Taxes were high in Ogden two years ago and there was a promise of a reduction, but, as usual, when tax time came around this fall the people were notified that the city tax rate had to be raised, and taxes were made higher.

How long is this to continue, if the city authorities fail to be resourceful?

"WHAT NEXT" SEAT SALE TODAY

"What Next," the comedy with music which has broken all Pacific coast records, is coming to the Orpheum theater next Sunday, October 21, one performance. The authors of this wonderful success are Oliver Morosco and Elmer Harris, while the music was written by the famous New York song writers, Harry Tierney and Al Bryan.

The cast is the same that will present this production in the east, where it will make its premier within a month. Heading the cast is the national favorite comedienne, Blanche Ring, who takes the role of Mary Brown. There is a wonderful chorus of California girls and a bathing suit number that is particularly attractive. The song hits and specialties are numerous and "What Next" is regarded as the biggest musical success of the past ten years. Seats go on sale today.—Advertisement.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL BOYS DOING BIT IN WORLD'S WORK

The State Industrial school is giving its share of aid to fruit raisers and farmers of the county in a similar manner to the other schools of the city and county. Boys have been allowed to go out to farms in the neighborhood of the school to aid in picking peaches, topping beets and performing various other jobs which urgently required attention. A force of eight young men from the school have been working two weeks in a canning factory and another force of ten have been picking peaches and apples. Twenty boys will start on Monday topping the beets on a twenty-five-acre field, having contracted to do the work at specified wages. The boys are allowed to deposit the money they earn in local banks in a savings account so that when they leave the school many will have a good supply of money on which to start their careers in life.

Gallons of Fruit Canned. The fruit canning and harvesting season at the school is about over, ac-

ording to Supt. Hinckley. The institution has made a record this year of which the officials are proud. There have been between 4,000 and 5,000 gallons of fruit preserved this year and the work has been done by the students alone, under supervision of their instructors.

A gang of boys at the school have just completed the construction of a cement fruit cellar which will be used for storing fruit and vegetables for winter use. This cellar is 50 by 20 feet in ground dimensions and of sufficient depth to make it snug and of the right temperature. It is made of concrete with a shingle roof and is considered by the officials of the school as the best fruit cellar in the state. This is only one of the several improvements at the institution this year. The cellar is located near the main building.

ATTENTION, OWLS OGDEN SUBJECT OF CARTOON AND STORY

Ogden is the subject of a cartoon and story in the Chicago Tribune of October 13, the cartoon being by the world famous John McCutcheon. It is one of a series showing what might happen in the event that an inconclusive peace is made and it is a series being drawn by McCutcheon entitled "After the war consequences of an inconclusive peace." The paper was received yesterday at the Weber club and the cartoon has excited no little interest.

Distributions committees are asked to get in touch with the Boy Scouts in order that so far as possible the work of the Boy Scouts may complement the other distributions activities, already undertaken.

BOY SCOUTS ARE TO AID LIBERTY LOAN THROUGHOUT WHOLE UNITED STATES

Acting on request of President Wilson, the Boy Scouts of America have volunteered their services in connection with the second liberty loan. The Boy Scouts have a well-developed national organization, which, however, does not correspond territorially to the Federal Reserve districts. The following Boy Scout zones contain territory in whole or in part included within the lists of the Twelfth Federal reserve district.

Zone No. 12—Colorado, New Mexico, Utah. (Report to Mr. Fred M. Brown, Scout Executive, B. S. A., 507 chamber of commerce building, Denver, Colorado.)

Zone No. 14—Montana, Washington. (Report to Mr. Edgar W. Weale, Scout Executive, B. S. A., 813 244 South Howard Street, Spokane, Wash.)

Zone No. 15—Idaho, Oregon. (Report to Mr. James E. Brockway, Scout Executive, B. S. A., 813 Northwestern Bank building, Portland, Ore.)

Zone No. 16—California north of the southern boundary line of Santa Clara, Stanislaus, Mariposa and Mono counties, Nev. (Report to Mr. Raymond O. Hanson, Scout Executive, B. S. A., 941 Phelan building, San Francisco, Cal.)

Zone No. 17—Arizona, California south of Santa Clara, Stanislaus, Mariposa and Mono counties. (Report to Mr. D. W. Pollard, Scout Executive, B. S. A., 330 Van Ness building, Los Angeles, California.)

A national-wide Boy Scout campaign is scheduled to cover the period October 20-25 inclusive. The treasury department is providing 5,000,000 special Boy Scout circulars and 300,000 books of instruction to conduct this campaign.

Distributions committees are asked to get in touch with the Boy Scouts in order that so far as possible the work of the Boy Scouts may complement the other distributions activities, already undertaken.

Box Elder county will lose two of its most prominent business men in the departure of Joseph Jensen of Garland and Alvin Keller of Tremonton to St. Anthony, Idaho, where they will enter the furniture business together. Both men have been prominently identified with the development of this county and have held church and public positions. Mr. Jensen was counselor to President Milton H. Weiling of the Bear River stake until he resigned to go to Idaho, and Mr.

Keller was bishop of Tremonton ward, being the first bishop to preside in Tremonton. For many years the men were competitors in the furniture business, the towns of Garland and Tremonton being but two miles apart.

A Halloween celebration is being arranged by the Box Elder Commercial club and plans are being arranged for a big jollification. A torchlight parade will be one of the leading features of the festivities and many other interesting features are being worked out by the program committee of the club.

The case of Hans G. Johnson, administrator, versus the Oregon Short Line Railroad company, wherein plaintiff sought damages in the sum of $25,000 for the killing of Alma Johnson by a freight train at Deweville last fall, ended in verdict of nonsuit. The case was tried before a jury, and from the evidence introduced it appeared that the railroad company was not responsible for the death of Johnson, who was run down by the freight train while crossing the tracks one night.

HUMAN SKULLS FOUND. BRIGHAM CITY, Oct. 17.—Two human skulls have been unearthed in the vicinity of Brigham of late. The first was uncovered in the big field north and west of the city while a farmer was engaged in excavating for a drain ditch, and bore evidence of being that of an Indian. Other bones were also uncovered. Yesterday a Oluff Jeppson uncovered the skull of a white man in his sand pit north of Box Elder creek while engaged in loading his wagon with sand. This skull appeared to be that of an aged person, as the teeth were worn down smooth. The latter, being in a fairly good state of preservation, will be given to the physiology class of the high school.

CASES BEING TRIED. BRIGHAM CITY, Oct. 17.—Yesterday in the district court the cases of W. F. Grover vs. A. L. Grover, and Lettie Grover, a minor, versus A. L. Grover were being heard. Owing to the unusual large volume of business a special venire of jurors was drawn, as follows: Joseph N. Stohl, John E. Baird, W. S. Taylor, Lewis Sigard, W. P. Knudson, George Cheal, John Wilson, Joseph F. Hansen, Oliver Forsgren, Hyrum L. Johnson, David Evans, Lorenzo Felt, N. C. Simonsen and Peter Mortensen.

BATTLE OF SARATOGA IS COMMEMORATED

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 17.—The 140th anniversary of the battle of Saratoga was observed here today by the dedication as an historic shrine of the Schuyler mansion, the home of General Philip Schuyler, who commanded the continental troops previous to the Saratoga fight and who prepared them for that combat.
